

Davide Di Giorgio

PREPARED FOR THE WENDY'S FRANCHISE ASSOCIATION FORUM COMMITTEE

I help leaders build teams who care enough to perform when nobody's watching.

The challenge: operational excellence, store by store

Every store, every shift, executing the standard the same way. The hard part isn't the playbook. It's what happens when nobody's watching.

"Our best location and our average location run the exact same playbook."

Same standards, same training, wildly different results. Operational excellence is closing that gap, and it isn't a documentation problem.

"We added more oversight. Results still vary from store to store."

More correction rarely closes the gap. What's missing is the belief underneath: people who execute the same way whether or not anyone is checking.

"The training was solid. A few weeks later, the behavior wasn't there."

Training that lands as information fades. Training that lands as belief is still there on the shift nobody is watching.

"Same brand, same menu. A different experience every shift."

Guests don't see your playbook. They see the shift they walked into. Trust is built or lost there.

What your leaders walk away with

This session gives your operators and their teams practical ways to make the standard hold, store after store, shift after shift.

- Spotting where the standard stops holding, before the numbers show it.
- Building teams that run the standard the same way on every shift, checked or not.
- Carrying what works in the best store to the rest.
- Tools they keep using after the session ends.

Customized with your team and for your attendees, once we know what's top of mind for this year's Forum.

Road-tested, proven at scale, and built to outlast the leader in the room.

Custom Keynotes (30–75 min) · Masterclasses (½-day to multi-day) · Advisory retainers · Breakouts & Q&A "Brands that have achieved operational excellence didn't achieve it by mistake. They built it with intentionality. ... Every store that was thriving was following Davide's framework, and every store that struggled was not."

— Graciela Chadwick, COO, Seventh Wave Refreshments (former COO, Crumbl)

Davide Di Giorgio

FROM CORRECTION TO COMMITMENT

For multi-unit, franchise, hospitality and retail businesses ready to reach beyond good enough.

Most leadership work is correction in kinder language: another survey, workshop or offsite. I work on what to remove, so commitment holds when nobody's watching.

TEDx speaker, featured on TED.com · Author of Being Unapologetic and Good Enough · #1 Amazon bestselling author in 8 countries

► WATCH THE REEL

WHY BOOK DAVIDE

- 30 years across theater, music, teaching, hospitality and franchise operations: the source of a subtractive method that pays off faster, and keeps paying off long after the keynote ends.
- 330 days a year on the road for nearly four years, directing field operations across 69 location openings in the US & Canada, including Crumbl's first international expansion.
- The operating systems he's built over three decades underpin more than $100M in net sales.
- More than quadrupled employee engagement: trained team members went from staying 6 months to over 2 years, with franchise-partner satisfaction up 25% and in-store revenue and customer satisfaction up to 12%.

ONE THESIS. THREE ENTRY POINTS.

01 From Correction to Commitment · SIGNATURE KEYNOTE

Building teams who care enough to perform when nobody's watching.

Great for franchise conventions · retail and hospitality conferences · leadership kickoffs and offsites · company-wide events

Audiences leave with why every correction-based fix hits a ceiling, the operating posture that makes belief-led performance hold at scale, and the Monday-morning conversation that starts it.

02 The Engagement Ceiling

Engagement stuck. Retention sliding. Managers leaving. Why nothing you've tried has broken through.

Great for CHRO · People & Culture · HR summits

Audiences leave with engagement seen as a belief problem, not a behavior one, a new frame for the middle-manager crisis, and three real ways to measure whether your people believe.

03 What Works Doesn't Scale

Why the gap between your best and your average keeps widening, and adding more won't close it.

Great for COO · multi-unit operators · international franchise systems · retail and hospitality groups · scaling businesses

Audiences leave with the difference between compliance architecture and commitment architecture, and a model that makes your best location replicable across borders.

THE BOOK

Good Enough puts a name on what your operators already feel: the gap between the store that's running great and the one three miles away that isn't. Then it hands you the tools to close it.

Backed by the Team Read Experience and the Franchise & Multi-Unit Operators Companion, so teams leave with something to implement immediately, not a mood that fades by lunch.